Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service! I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is unfair!

I use my wireless phone for safety, security and convenience. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Keep the USF Fair!

I am a 12 year who does odd jobs to earn the money a pay for my phone. I do not think it is fair of you to charge me more. A lot of kids my age have Tracfone that thier parents get for them, so they can keep track of thier kids and make sure they are alright and safe. Why do you want to make it harder for parents to do this, and for students like me to keep our phones.

Sincerely,

Brittany Colvin
